STATESBORO – The Georgia Southern women's tennis team prepare for a busy weekend as they host College of Charleston, UNC-Wilmington and Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College at the Wallis Tennis Center.

Last time out:

The Eagles (6-3) suffered a 0-7 loss at North Florida this past Friday before bouncing back in a 4-3 win at Mercer Sunday.

College of Charleston series history:

The Cougars are historically one of the Eagles' toughest opponents with CoC leading the series 32-2 including the past 18 straight. Both wins for the Eagles came in the 1979 season.

About CoC:

The Cougars (7-5) have had a good season with wins over Gardner-Webb, North Carolina A&T, South Carolina State, Charleston Southern, Winthrop, Towson and St. John's. The team is currently on a two-match winning streak.

UNC-Wilmington series history:

The Eagles trail the series 2-3 and have lost the last three straight. In the most recent meeting, the Eagles fell 2-5 on the road in 2019.

About UNCW:

The Seahawks (3-5) have had a rough season but hold wins over UNC-Greensboro, Hofstra and George Washington. The team will face East Carolina Friday ahead of their trip to Statesboro.

ABAC series history:

The Eagles lead the series 1-0 after their lone meeting in 2019 ended in a 7-0 triumph for the Blue and White.

About ABAC:

The Golden Stallions (2-2) of the junior college ranks are .500 on the season with wins over Central Alabama Community College and Piedmont's junior varsity teams.

What Eagles head coach Sean McCaffrey said:

"The team is always happy to play on campus and in front of their fans. Having an opportunity to welcome some strong teams to campus like Charleston and UNC-Wilmington will do a lot to help the women prepare for conference matches. With just one week away from the beginning of conference play, all of the ladies are doing their best to make sure they are prepared to take on the Sun Belt competition."

"I am hoping that with the final four matches before Louisiana and ULM arrive, we are beginning to hit our stride and ready to battle."

Up Next:

The team hosts the next four matches beginning with Toledo March 11 at 2:00 p.m.
